

Advance!

The Generals Redoubt Annual Fund

Join fellow alumni, students, and parents in our mission to advance the greatness of Washington and Lee.

We are on a mission to empower the Washington and Lee community to advance our unique history and traditions of honor, civility, and classical liberal arts education. The institutions and leadership at W&L must reflect the greatness of the university.

Regretfully, the current administration does not share our core principles. We see this in the heavy-handed silencing of the College Republicans and an eagerness to change the name of Lee Chapel in 2021 even after promising to keep the name in 2019 among many other well-publicized and disappointing actions of the university.

The Generals Redoubt, founded to defend W&L's unique history, must now fight for W&L's future. To that end, we will advance the causes of truly free speech, student self-governance, civility, and honor. And we will advance any and all individuals and organizations which reflect these values.

Washington and Lee, especially the student body, needs our help more than ever.

We ask that you:

- Insist on the resignations of President Dudley and Chairman McAlevey in order to restore to leadership positions those who appreciate the values that make Washington and Lee University great.

- Make a tax deductible gift to The Generals Redoubt, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit, as we work every day to advance W&L's unique history and traditions of honor, civility, and classical liberal arts education.
- Donate your time to spread the word about the issues our school faces.
